- Do you have students who are passionate about the environment? Are they interested in learning a new language to spark global conversations? Are they hoping to serve as future stewards of the environment in our community? The University Honors Program and the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln invites your rising high school juniors and seniors to apply for the: Global Challenges Summer Camp: Environmental Innovation and Leadership | Honors Program | Nebraska The camp will take place from July 18th to 30th, 2022 at the University of Nebraska – Lincoln campus, with field trips to Reller Prairie Field Station. Through this exciting camp, students will explore innovative methods to become the next leaders of the environmental stewardship movement. The camp includes tons of fun activities, three meals a day, and housing for residential campers. If your students are within or near Lincoln, there is an option to commute daily to campus instead of being a residential camper! There are need-based scholarships available. Learn more about the program and how to apply at: : Global Challenges Summer Camp: Environmental Innovation and Leadership | Honors Program | Nebraska Questions?
